

Story to Image Generator

Transform your story into a visual sequence!

Dual-Model Sequential Pipeline:

- Model 1 (Text-to-Image): Generates initial image from story segment
- Model 2 (Image-to-Image): Refines output using previous image + current text

This two-model approach maintains visual continuity across story segments while ensuring each scene accurately reflects the narrative.

A red balloon floated slowly above a small lake and the balloon moved wherever the wind pushed it. Below it, fish swam in lazy circles, unaware of anything above. The balloon rose higher, passing a few birds resting on a branch. Deep in a quiet forest, a tiny mushroom grew beside an old log and a rabbit hopped by, stopping only for a moment before moving on. Sunlight slipped through the leaves and warmed the forest floor. The mushroom stayed still, listening to the soft rustle of the trees. Hours later, the red balloon drifted down from the sky. It landed gently in the forest, right next to the mushroom. The forest didn't change, and the balloon didn't move, but for a moment, they shared the same quiet space.
